

No Illinois Pledge For Stevenson

Majority of Delegates Favor Ex-Governor

Powell Frank in Opposition as Delegate-at-Large

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (U.P.)—Adlai E. Stevenson will go into the Democratic National Convention with the vast majority of his home state Illinois delegation behind him.

But the 64-vote delegation won't be officially pledged to the former Illinois governor. And there may be a minor downstate revolt in favor of Missouri's Sen. Stuart Symington.

This was established Monday at an Illinois Democratic convention which cheered Stevenson's name but by-passed giving him its official endorsement.

The Democrats, dominated by the powerful, pro-Stevenson Cook County (Chicago) organization, chose 28 delegates at large to round out the state's delegation to the August convention.

One of the newly chosen, half-vote delegates at large is Stevenson himself, giving him a free ticket to the convention. Stevenson backers claimed all but one of the others, assuring him of at least 13½ more convention votes.

Fifty full-vote delegates were chosen in the Illinois April 10 primary, where Stevenson showed good strength over Sen. Estes Kefauver's write-in bid.

Most of those delegates are also considered pro-Stevenson. But they are not bound by any unit voting rule and ex-Gov. John Stelle, a prime mover in the downstate rebellion against Stevenson, predicted 20 Illinois delegates will go to Chicago supporting some other candidate.

"Personally, I'm for Symington," Stelle said.

Daley Issues Warning

Last month, Stelle and ex-Sen. Scott W. Lucas met with 12 other downstate delegates and reported "strong sentiment" among themselves for the Missouri dark horse. Kefauver supporters claim at least two other delegates.

Top Chicago Democrats, however, shrugged off Stelle's threats.

Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley said the State Central Committee decided early Monday not to push through a formal endorsement unless the downstaters introduced an anti-Stevenson resolution. They didn't.

Stelle said the lack of an endorsement was a "sign of weakness" for Stevenson. But National Committee member Jacob M. Arvey said he doubted Stelle would have "the desire or the power" to gather 20 anti-Stevenson delegates by convention time.

Daley, boss of the Cook County organization, issued a plain warning to anybody thinking of rebellion.

He said he "hopes to carry the flag of Illinois into the convention for our native son, Adlai E. Stevenson. Let those who would divide our party for personal gain be warned."

State Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vien) was the lone delegate-at-large who was counted opposed to Stevenson. "I don't think anyone could say I'm for Stevenson," Powell said frankly.

The convention also nominated 28 alternate delegates at-large and 27 presidential electors.

Nominated as candidates for University of Illinois trustees were Richard J. Nelson, Evanston, former aide to Stevenson; Joseph B. Campbell, Nashville publisher; and W. Don Forsyth, Springfield insurance man.

Butler Says Democrats Will Not Run National Convention Overtime

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler says the Democrats will not try to throw a monkey wrench into the Republican convention this summer by running their own convention overtime.

But Butler added at a news conference Monday that the Democrats will feel no obligation to cut short their convention in Chicago just to make things easier for the GOP in San Francisco.

Butler commented on published reports that the Democrats are plotting to "embarrass" Republicans with a lengthy convention of their own.

The Democratic convention starts here Aug. 13, while the Republicans are scheduled to meet Aug. 20. A Democratic delay could tie up press and other media covering the GOP.

Butler also revealed that the party's platform committee will meet a week before the convention opening to hammer out a plank on the touchy issue of civil rights.

He said he does not expect a convention fight over the plank, adding "I think we will have substantial agreement on it in advance of the convention."

Butler called the news conference to announce the appointment of J. Leonard Reinsch, Atlanta, Ga., as the new director of arrangements for the Democratic convention.

Reinsch is executive director of WSB and WSB-TV in Atlanta and of WHIO and WHIO-TV in Dayton, Ohio. He has been a TV-radio consultant to the party's National committee.

The Atlanta succeeds W. Neale Roache, who resigned recently after a disagreement with Butler over personal policies.

Stevenson Holds Lead in Indicated First Round Convention Votes

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—California voters chose between Democrats Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver today in their final and crucial presidential primary contest.

The loser of today's contest likely will fade out as a major contender for the presidential nomination before the Democratic national convention opens Aug. 13 at Chicago.

The winner will pick up a sizeable bloc of 68 convention votes, but a victory today will by no means assure him of winning the nomination.

In advance of today's primary, Stevenson led Kefauver 264 to 145 in indicated first-ballot convention votes, a United Press survey showed. But neither was near the 686 1/2 votes needed for nomination.

Other Candidates

The survey showed the following indicated first-ballot votes for other candidates: Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson 56; Ohio Gov. Frank Lausche 54; Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) 46; Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams 45; New York Gov. Averell Harriman 44 1/2; House Democratic Leader John McCormack 40; former President Harry S. Truman 1-2.

While attention centered on the California primary, primaries also were being held today in South Dakota, Montana and New York. These are the last of the 1956 presidential primaries.

The New York vote provided no direct choice between presidential candidates. Delegates were being chosen with 86 national convention votes. But Gov. Averell Harriman was certain to get most or all of these and some of the 12 at-large delegates to be named later.

Kefauver was unopposed in the other two primaries. South Dakota will have eight convention votes and Montana 16.

Predicts Dark Horse

Other political news:

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) predicted on a radio program Monday night that Democrats might turn to a dark horse candidate unless there is a "decisive clear cut victory" by either Stevenson or Kefauver in California. He mentioned Symington, Harriman and Johnson as leading dark horses.

In an Iowa primary Monday, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper won the Republican senatorial nomination against a candidate urging a "farm protest" vote against the Eisenhower administration. On the Democratic side, R. M. (Spike) Evans, one-time national agricultural adjustment administration chief, won apparent nomination.

Find Body of Canadian Legislator Sought for 'Mass Murder' of Seven

STETTLER, Alta. (U.P.)—The body of John E. Clark, Alberta provincial legislator-farmer sought for the "mass murder" of seven persons, was found Monday night in a muddy ditch with a bullet in his head.

Clark, 41, clad in pajamas, was discovered lying in a ditch filled with three feet of water a half mile from his 1,000-acre farm. A single-shot .22 caliber rifle was found at his side.

Assistant Royal Canadian Mounted Police Inspector G. Curleigh said Clark shot himself in the forehead. Clark was identified by a neighbor. Police said the rifle was the one used to kill Clark's wife, Margaret, 36, their four young children, George Anderson, a farm hand, and William Olah, 20, a Canadian sailor.

An inquest was planned today in this farming community, 16 miles from the Clark farm.

A Royal Canadian Air Force plane spotted the body of the popular legislator-farmer some 36 hours after Canadian Mounties on horseback and foot began their search for Clark.

Police offered no motive but Clark was reported to have had a nervous breakdown last year. Neighbors said he had "acted strangely" since his return from an election campaign last week.

A neighbor, G. G. Parrott, discovered five of the seven victims dead Sunday when he went to Clark's yellow farmhouse for a friendly chat. Olah, a former pupil of Clark's when the legislator was a teacher, died several hours later at a hospital. One of the children died on the way.

Parrott said there was no sign of a struggle. The bodies of the children, Jeanna, 8, Ross, 7, Ann, 6, and Linda, 4, had been placed neatly in a row.

Ike Summons House Leaders For Aid Parley

President Acts to Avert Congress Move to Cut Funds

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—President Eisenhower today summoned Democratic and Republican House leaders to a White House meeting in an 11th-hour attempt to save his foreign aid program from heavy cuts.

The White House said the bipartisan meeting will take place in the President's study at 4 p. m. CST today.

The President acted in the face of a strong congressional move to order heavy slashes in the $4,900,000,000 aid request which the President and other administration leaders have called vital to the free world's security.

Plans for the meeting were announced after the President's regular weekly meeting with Republican congressional leaders this morning.

The House is scheduled to take up the foreign aid bill Wednesday.

House GOP Leaders Joseph W. Martin said President Eisenhower hopes the House will restore a $1,100,000,000 cut in the foreign aid measure recently voted by the House Foreign Affairs committee. The administration originally asked a total of $4,900,000,000 for overall foreign assistance.

Before Senate Committee

Martin said the President feels that the "foreign effort" of the United States would be "badly crippled" if the cut is allowed to stand.

The House Foreign Affairs committee voted to chop 1 billion dollars from the military aid program and another 100 million dollars from the economic aid request.

In the Senate, the aid program still is before the Foreign Relations committee. A long line of administration witnesses pleaded against heavy cuts in testimony last week. Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) told the United Press Saturday that he thought the House cut was "too great" and that he would work to have at least part of it restored.

Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland said that after the House acts on the foreign aid measure, Mr. Eisenhower will hold a similar bipartisan meeting for Senate leaders when the bill comes before the Senate.

Sentence Woman To Death for Poison Murder

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (U.P.)—A circuit jury late Monday night sentenced Mrs. Rhonda Bell Martin to death in the electric chair for the murder of her fourth husband, one of seven relatives she admittedly poisoned to collect their insurance.

The jury deliberated only three hours before finding the 49-year-old waitress guilty of the rat-poison murder of Claude C. Martin in 1951.

The red-haired Mrs. Martin admitted in a signed confession that she gave fatal doses of arsenic to Claude Martin, another husband, three daughters and her mother. She also admitted attempting to poison her present husband, Ronald Martin, the son of her fourth husband.

Under Alabama law all death sentences are automatically appealed. However, if the appeal fails, Mrs. Martin will become the second woman to die in Alabama's electric chair.

SIU to Train Coeds for Air Force Reserve

CARBONDALE, Ill. (U.P.)—Southern Illinois university is one of the first seven schools in the nation selected to train coeds for reserve commissions in the U. S. Air Force.

SIU and Air Force officials said today the program will start this fall and should be in full operation by the winter quarter.

The "Cadettes" will receive the same privileges and allowances as male students in the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps. Their classes will be co-educational except for summer camp between junior and senior college years.

Women students under 21 years of age must have parental consent to take the course. All applicants must agree to serve three years on active duty with the Air Force after being commissioned as reserve second lieutenants upon graduation from college.

$100,000 in Brink's Loot Seized in FBI Raid

Missionary Tells Of Thailand in Rotary Address

Harold Reeves, first missionary to enter Thailand, was the speaker at the Rotary meeting Monday. He was introduced by Rev. Joe Mor-nan and spoke about Thailand and its people.

Thailand, land of 18,000,000 people and about the size of Texas, is friendly to the United States and the 45,000,000 U. S. dollars spent there in the last three years are being wisely used in the building of roads and schools. Buddhism is the main religion in Thailand, although American missionaries are making good progress in converting these people.

Mr. Reeves stated in his talk, that Communism does not have a hold on the country, due to the fact that there is plenty of food in that country. After his talk, Mr. Reeves answered questions from the members about Thailand. John Murphy, from Eldorado, was introduced as a guest of the club.

The program for next week's meeting will be planned by Dr. B. E. Montgomery.

Record Personal Income Reported By Commerce Dep't

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The personal income of Americans hit an all-time high in April, the Commerce Department reported today.

Personal income, in the parlance of government economists, is the total received by individuals in the form of wages, salaries, dividends, interest, income from farms and the profits of private (proprietary) businesses. It does not include corporate income.

In April, personal income was running at an annual rate of $317,100,000,000. That is, if the April rate was continued for a full year, it would amount to $317,100,000,000.

This represented an increase of two billion dollars over the annual rate reported for March.

A jump of approximately the same size occurred between February and March.

Higher hourly wages in manufacturing industries, and increased employment, were major factors in the rise, the department said.

Attend Funeral of Brother of Willis Moore

Mr. and Mrs. Willis W. Moore and their daughter, Mrs. Ross Abby of this city returned yesterday from Linton, Ind., where they attended funeral services for Mr. Moore's brother, Ned Moore.

Mr. Moore was fatally injured Friday morning when he was struck by a milk truck while crossing a street in Indianapolis where he made his home. He was 75 years old and death resulted in his multiple injuries.

His body was taken to Linton, his former home, for the final rites and burial.

Child is Killed

PALATINE, Ill. (U.P.)—A truck driven by one of Emil Berlin's employees struck and killed Berlin's 18-month-old daughter Monday while backing up.

Berlin posted bond for the driver, Wilfred Botcher, 41, Algonquin, charged with reckless homicide in the death of the girl, Diane Jean.

URGES MORE BIKE RIDING—Dr. Paul Dudley White, heart specialist for President Eisenhower, who urges bike riding as a good "conditioner" and preventative for heart troubles, rides a bicycle built for two with Chicago's Mayor Richard Daley. A group of youngsters rode with the pair as they participated in the opening of a bicycle path in a Chicago park. The bike path is the first of a system of paths for the Chicago parks. ### Top Student At U. I. Is Ineligible For Valedictorian

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (U.P.)—A 22-year-old woman got nothing but "As" in four years of college, but she isn't valedictorian.

The University of Illinois reported today that the top student in its 1956 senior class is Mrs. Margaret J. Arnold, the straight "A" student from Topeka, Kan.

She isn't eligible to be named valedictorian because she transferred here only a year ago from the University of Kansas, the U. of I. said.

Eisenhower Appeals For Passage of Mail Rate Increases

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—President Eisenhower urged Republican congressional leaders today to put the heat on to get his proposed mail rate increases passed this year.

He made the appeal during his weekly meeting with the leaders at the White House. The mail rate boosts face heavy congressional opposition in this election year.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland reported that both the President and Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield threw their weight behind the rate increase bill now pending in the House.

Child is Killed

PALATINE, Ill. (U.P.)—A truck driven by one of Emil Berlin's employees struck and killed Berlin's 18-month-old daughter Monday while backing up.

Berlin posted bond for the driver, Wilfred Botcher, 41, Algonquin, charged with reckless homicide in the death of the girl, Diane Jean.

Irene Blackard Hooks Big Sailfish On Florida Vacation

Irene Blackard, wife of Dr. William J. Blackard of Harrisburg, has caught the biggest sailfish of the season out of Pompano Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Blackard, who is vacationing in Florida with her daughter, Carolyn, yesterday hooked a sailfish seven and a half feet long which weighed 59 1/2 pounds.

Thirty sailboats take people out from Pompano Beach, Fla., for deep sea fishing and Mrs. Blackard was one of these when she hooked the monster.

The boat put up a signal denoting an unusual catch as it came back to the docks and photographers were on hand to take pictures of the fish.

Mrs. Blackard plans to have the fish mounted and shipped to Harrisburg.

CED Suggests Tax Cut Jan. 1, if Budget Surplus

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The Committee for Economic Development today recommended a federal tax cut of more than 2 billion dollars next Jan. 1 provided there is promise of enough surplus in the new fiscal year's budget.

The committee, a private business research organization, also said tax reduction would be "most helpful" if business goes into a slump. But it recommended no cuts and possibly an increase in case of an inflationary trend.

The committee suggested next Jan. 1 as the effective date for a cut made on the basis of a good budget outlook, but it didn't suggest a date for a cut on the basis of a business slump.

There was no forecast for either the budget or the economy in the CED's recommendations, which appeared in a 22-page policy statement. A recent congressional committee forecast on the budget for fiscal 1957, which starts next month, indicates there will be enough surplus for tax cutting by CED standards.

If cuts are made, the committee said first priority should be given to trimming all individual income tax rates, with "strong emphasis" on those above 60 per cent. Next, the corporate income tax rate should be cut to 50 per cent, from its current level of 52 per cent. And finally, if the surplus allows, cuts in excise taxes on autos, liquor and tobacco should be permitted to take effect as scheduled next April—with autos first.

Money Found In Beer Cooler; Two Arrested

Raid Staged on Information from Baltimore Arrest

BOSTON (U.P.)—The fabulous $1,219,000 Brink's robbery took a sensational new turn today following discovery of some of the hottest cash in the world in a green metal beer cooler.

Police and FBI agents seized an estimated $100,000 Monday in a raid on a South End office. The money—in mouldy, rotten bills—was taken from the cooler after authorities broke down a fake wall panel in the basement office of a building.

Two men were arrested near the office and held for arraignment today on charges of accessory after the fact of robbery and receiving stolen goods.

The men, Edward (Wimpy) Bennett, 36, Weymouth, and John F. Buccelli, 41, Brookline, denied during night-long questioning that they knew anything about the cash.

"Definitely" Brink's Loot

The bills were identified as "definitely" part of the loot taken in the Jan. 12, 1950, holdup at the Brink's counting house garage in Boston's North End. Ten of the alleged Halloween-masked bandits are now under arrest in Massachusetts awaiting trial.

The raid was staged on information gained in the arrest Sunday night of roly-poly ex-convict Jordan Perry, 31, of Boston in Baltimore. Perry, a partner in the contracting firm which leased the raided office, was seized after trying to pass a limp-looking $10 bill at a Baltimore shooting gallery.

The FBI in Baltimore said Monday night that the Justice Department in Washington would decide later when Perry will be returned to Boston.

FBI County Money

Sixteen packets of aging bills ranging in denomination from $1 to $1,000 were counted Monday night by seven FBI accountants.

Though a few bills have turned up from time to time and have been identified as part of the Brink's haul, Monday's raid was the first time any substantial amount has been located.

In an earlier development Monday, Superior Judge Felix Forte set Aug. 6 as the date for the start of the Brink's trial.

The 10 men awaiting trial are scattered throughout the state in county jails for security reasons. An 11th man accused of taking part in the holdup is dead.

Jackson County Girl Is Killed When Tractor Overtakes

SALEM, Ill. (U.P.)—Funeral services are scheduled Wednesday for Bessie Pulcher, a Jackson county farm girl who was killed in a tractor accident.

Miss Pulcher was injured fatally when a tractor she was driving overturned on her father's farm near here Monday.

She had just completed her third year at Trico high school where she was an honor student, and was to attend the American Legion-sponsored Girls State at Jacksonville June 19.

Killed Near Salem

SALEM, Ill. (U.P.)—Richard Spangler, 37, Keil, was killed today as he started across a highway and was struck by a car.

State Police said Charles E. Thompson, Mount Vernon, was driving the car that struck Spangler.

The accident happened on Ill. 37 nine miles south of here.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The lamp of the body is the eye,
if therefore thine eye be single,
thy whole body shall be full of light. Matthew 6:22.

We see what we look for. If we look for good we will see it on all sides and in strange places. Charitable people put the best construction on the deeds of others.

Primaries are Useful

Editorial By Bruce Bissat
Though the spring presidential primaries are not over yet, we're already hearing from some quarters again that they're a waste of time and money.

The argument is that they don't really prove who the people want for nominees, and that they're so complex and varied they do more to confuse than to clarify.

It is perfectly true that as now constituted the U. S. primary system provides no clear and irrefutable evidence of the people's choice.
But it is quite another thing to conclude therefrom that primaries are useless in the determination of party standard bearers.

They alone cannot nominate a man, but they can be a strong influence in that direction. And everybody knows they can pull a candidate down fast.

It is commonly noted that Sen.
Estes Kefauver won a flock of primaries in 1952 yet couldn't win the nomination at convention time. But it shouldn't be forgotten that his primary showing was chiefly responsible for making him a close contender.

In 1948, Harold Stassen's Oregon
primary defeat at the hands of Thomas E. Dewey was an event that caught prime attention. But up to that moment Stassen had captured primaries in Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Nebraska. Had he taken Oregon, there is little question he would have been the front runner.

Only 19 of the 48 states hold primaries, the rest choosing convention delegates in state conventions. But the states with presidential preference tests include
most of the biggest: California,
Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, New Jersey.

The others are sprinkled about
the country in a way which affords
a pretty fair geographic sampling of sentiment.

It is often contended that the primary setup is weak, too, because in many cases results of the preferential voting aren't binding on delegates. The fact is that in 12 of the 19 the vote is binding. It just happens that important Illinois and Pennsylvania are among those where it is not.

Yet this argument is not really too powerful. The primaries admittedly provide simply a sampling of popular response to candidates.
The big point is that it can be and often is more than sufficient to give the leading national politicians
the cues they need at nominating time.

Despite the notion that they prefer back-room manipulation, politicians are not oblivious to indications of a candidate's popular favor
or disfavor. Quite the reverse.
They are keenly alert to every sign.
And during a primary period they get many.

That is the chief value of primaries. They are indeed imperfect, complex and confusing. But with all these drawbacks they still tell the men who engineer nominations some — if not all — of the things they need to know to make sensible decisions.

Rhee Losing Favor

Syngman Rhee has never encouraged what might be called ideal democratic conditions in Korea. So it is rather remarkable that in winning election to a third term as president he polled only 55 per cent of the vote.

Four years ago he drew 72 per cent of the total. This time he had surprising competition from an ex-Communist who is in hiding,
and a man who died of a brain
hemorrhage 10 days before election.

Obviously the aged Rhee still has matters in hand. But the strong vote for his rivals would seem at least in part to represent a protest.

It could be that Koreans are growing weary of his iron-handed rule in the guise of democracy.
Or perhaps that they are just growing tired of Rhee.

Outsiders have been saying for a long time that Korea needs fresh imaginative leadership. A good many Koreans may be reaching the same conclusion.

Notify Social Security if Miss Becomes a Mrs.

Many people are familiar with the phrase "after the honeymoon is over." It means that the bride and groom have come down from the clouds and resumed their places in the workaday world.

One of the most important responsibilities which the bride must assume, especially if she continues in the business world, is to see that her name is changed on her social security card. She should realize that this must be done as soon as possible "after the honeymoon is over" in order to avoid later difficulties. It requires just a short visit to the nearest social security office and her old social security card will be promptly exchanged for a new one—the same number but a brand new last name.

Someday it may be valuable to her, because it may mean that she has a social security account upon which a total of some thousands of dollars in monthly benefits may be paid over the future years to her or to her dependents or survivors.

Neck Bones

The swan needs 23 bones to hold up its neck, but the giraffe, with a much longer neck, needs only seven, the standard number for all mammals, including man.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Three Pan American Presidents Decline Invitation To Meet Ike In Panama; Five Presidents Accept Condition-
ally; Latin Americans Skeptical Over Drafting Presidential Principles For Hemisphere.

WASHINGTON.—President Eisenhower's meeting with the presidents of the 20 Pan American republics has struck some stormy weather. With less than three weeks to go before the meeting on June 25, three important presidents have ducked out on meeting
Ike in Panama, while five others have said "yes—maybe."

The three who have turned down
the chance to confer with Ike are the presidents of Bolivia, Columbia and Peru.

The five who have adopted a favorable though wait-see policy are the presidents of some of the most powerful nations in the Western Hemisphere—Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, Venezuela and Cuba.
They have politely indicated their desire to come, but they seem a little leery of what they may be asked to sign at Panama.

Also, they don't like the way in which the invitation was thrown at them so suddenly without any advance notice. Some, incidentally, were invited two days after the others. Finally, some figure that this is a Madison Avenue
stunt aimed at impressing the American public politically during a campaign year.

Latin American skepticism was expressed by astute Bolivian Ambassador Victor Andrade at a meeting of the General Commission of the Americas.

DIPLOMACY IS DIFFICULT

"We learned one day after our resolution to commemorate the 130th anniversary of Pan Americanism, that there would be another meeting in Panama," said Andrade, referring to the way in which the U. S. A. and Panama had got together privately and suddenly sprung the idea of having Ike latch on to the previously arranged meeting of ambassadors
in Panama. "Naturally this created a little confusion."

"The presidents of the republics will meet informally," the Bolivian ambassador continued. "This meeting will be closed to the public. The presidents may talk about how they reduced their waistlines. Or they may talk about their golf scores. But the public will never believe that they didn't talk about something very important. And in the future a president may be charged with selling out to the U. S. A. at this closed Panama meeting. Why risk that?"

"Another thing," Ambassador Andrade continued. "The presidents will have to sit and listen to us while we, the ambassadors,
make the public speeches commemorating Pan Americanism.
Yet we are the servants of the presidents."

PRINCIPLES OF PRESIDENTS

"The third problem," summarized the Bolivian envoy, "is this declaration of principles to be adopted at Panama. To draft language acceptable to 21 countries and yet say anything important would take every minute
if we worked day and night from now until the conference meets.
Even then it is doubtful if we could come up with anything."

The Bolivian got emphatic support from Mexican Ambassador Luis Quintanilla.

Meanwhile the drafting of the declaration of principles for the Western Hemisphere is being carried out by the United States, Panama and Chile. This in itself is one reason why some of the major countries are sitting on the side lines. Since they are left out of the drafting they want to see what the final result is before they commit their presidents to go to Panama to sign it.

In brief, Latin Americans take their diplomacy seriously. And they don't want to attend an informal social gathering such as the Mexican-Canadian meeting Ike staged at White Sulphur Springs
unless they know something definite will be accomplished.

BITTER ESTES AND ADLAI

First blow in the Stevenson-Kefauver feud was struck when Adlai attacked Kefauver's Senate absentee record right after the Minnesota primary and also charged him with receiving Republican money.

"Kefauver," he said, "wants to be president too badly."
"Adlai wants to be president too often," cracked Kefauver when he heard this.

After Adlai began accusing Kefauver of mudslinging, Estes remarked privately: "The egghead is also a sorehead."

NEWS-IN-A-NUTSHELL

Attorney General Brownell is so anxious to deport ex-racket boss Frankie Costello before the elections that he is risking the whole case for temporary political advantage. Brownell has ordered Costello tried on schedule June 11,
though the racketeer has just lost
his attorney, Jack Wasserman.

They split up after Costello rejected Wasserman's advice and insisted on taking the witness stand in his own defense. Result:
Costello has no attorney on the eve of his trial which, almost certainly means the higher courts will call it a mis-trial. Brownell is refusing to postpone the trial long enough for another attorney to acquaint himself with the facts,

however, because this would put off the verdict until after the elections. . . The State Department is desperately trying to keep 1,500 Americans stationed on riot-torn Cyprus out of the headlines. Reason: They are using Cyprus
as a base for monitoring Soviet radio broadcasts. They are able to hear 70 Russian radio stations
loud and clear on the tiny Mediterranean island. The State Department has ordered the Americans to take no sides in the riots,
to make no remarks favoring
either the British or Cypriots.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The Women's National Press
Club has two books which in a few years should be worth about $1,000 each. They are copies of "Who Says We Can't Cook," and the books are valuable not for the recipes therein—these are good—but because the autographs of the five living first ladies are inscribed on the flyleaves—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Eleanor Roosevelt, Bess Truman
and Mamie Eisenhower. . . The two books are locked up in a safe waiting to be auctioned off some day to help build the Women's National Press Club building.

LADIES, ESPECIALLY, love this handling!

Buick Super
6-Passenger 4-Door Riviera

If there was ever a "big, strong, silent type"
in automobiles that a lady can lace round
her little finger — this brawny beauty is certainly it.

It's a '56 Buick — with a sweet new Safety
Power Steering† — and it's a happy dream
to handle.

You park it—even in tight places—with hardly more effort than a flick of two fingers.

You guide it through traffic with the consummate ease of a caress—and nothing will prove that to you more vividly than an actual sampling at the wheel.

But blissful new steering is just the start of wonderful new things in this buoyant and beautifully balanced two-ton Buick for 1956.

You'll have to try the great new ride that cradles you here in a soft and sure-footed road hold — that heightens your safety with a new and almost uncanny "sense of direction."

You'll have to try the instant response of great new power that comes from a new and mighty 322-cubic-inch V8 engine.

And you'll most certainly have to sample
the simplicity and the spectacular command that are yours with Buick's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

With just a toe-touch, you silk your way to the smoothest travel yet.

With just a toe-touch, you get a brisk new getaway response and liquid-smooth cruising pace for all your normal driving — plus better gas mileage on top of it all.

And when you go beyond the toe-touch—
when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch for safety's sake—you get the smoothest, the most modern and the most thrilling
surge of safety acceleration in the land today.

So what's left to tell?

Except the story of high-fashion luxury (which you can see for yourself)—and the story on low, low prices (which will sound sweet to your ears)—when you come in for a sampling.

Will you do just that soon—maybe this week?

extra cost on other Series.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard

Gabriel Heatter Hails New Way For Deaf to Hear With Both Ears

CHICAGO (Special) — A fabulous new miracle invention that, at last, enables the deaf to hear clearly again with both ears — as nature intended — was announced by Gabriel Heatter on his coast-to-coast broadcast last Tuesday. Heatter revealed that this radically different invention does away with the handicaps of trying to hear with just one ear. "I urge everyone with a hearing problem to discover how this great invention... Beltone Hearing Glasses... may help them," Heatter said. "A powerful hearing aid is hidden inside the glasses. A tiny, almost invisible tube carries sounds to the ear. No receiver button, no cord."

To acquaint hard of hearing readers of this newspaper with facts about this new way to hear with both ears, an informative new book will be sent free on request. For your free book, write: Electronic Research Director, Dept. 2-342 Beltone Hearing Aid Co., 2900 W. 38th St., Chicago 32. A postcard will do.

Prince, Grace Head for Home Amid Baby Rumors

MONTE CARLO, Monaco — Prince Rainier and Princess Grace headed back today to a principality buzzing with rumors she is expecting a baby in January.

The royal yacht left Majorca, Spain, Monday for the run to the sun-specked Riviera playground but the sea was rough and the journey could be delayed.

There was no confirmation of the reports the princess is expecting. Father Francis Tucker, the American priest who played Cupid, said they had told him nothing about it.

Monegasques were hoping the rumors were true. An heir would prevent the principality from reverting to France. If that happens, the Monegasques would have to pay taxes and would be subject to French military duty.

The prince and princess were married April 19.

Stratton to Launch Campaign for New Revenue Article

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton Thursday will launch a campaign to win approval of a new revenue article to the state constitution at the November election.

Stratton has invited representatives of labor, agriculture, business and civic groups to a meeting here to discuss the amendment.

The governor said the meeting was to "lay the groundwork" for a campaign similar to that which won passage two years ago for legislative reapportionment.

The new revenue amendment requires either a majority of all votes cast at the November election or two-thirds of the votes cast on the amendment proposition.

If approved, the amendment will allow the General Assembly to change the present revenue laws.

State Home Bureau Citizenship

Meeting June 12-15

The 19th annual Citizenship conference of the Illinois Home Bureau Federation will be held this year on the campus of MacMurray college in Jacksonville, Ill., from June 12 through June 15.

Saline county delegates will be Mrs. Louie Gaskins, county president, and Mrs. Joseph Smith.

The Citizenship conference serves as a mid-year training school for county leaders. Plans are made there; training is given in all lines of Home Bureau's program of work; some social activity is included, and planned recreation is enjoyed by those attending. The theme of the conference is "The home is the center of every woman's interest, but not the circumference."

The Elsie Mies Memorial speaker at the Thursday afternoon session will be Dr. D. E. Lindstrom of the University of Illinois faculty, who lately returned from a three-year assignment in Japan.

Mrs. E. D. McGuire of Makanda in Jackson county is serving as president of Illinois Home Bureau Federation with an able advisory board of twenty members to assist her in making this 1956 Citizenship conference an instructive and enjoyable four days for every delegate in attendance.

In Memoriam

In memory of David Upchurch, who passed away 7 years ago June 5, 1949:
He bid one a last farewell,
He said goodbye to none.
His loving heart just ceased to beat,
Before we knew it he was gone.
Our hearts have known many a sorrow
Our eyes have shed many a tear,
Only God knows how we have missed him,
At the end of seven long years.
Sadly missed by son, Frank Upchurch. *287-1

Neutral Premier Of Burma Resigns

RANGOON, Burma (U)—Premier U Nu announced his resignation today.

The premier who became known as one of Asia's leading "neutralists" with Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, will be succeeded by U Ba Swe, the defense minister.

U Nu told a news conference he would devote his time to reorganizing his own party, the Anti-Fascist Peoples Freedom League, now divided over many political matters.

The little premier's resignation had been rumored for several days because of his growing dissatisfaction with Burma's role as a "neutral" in a world divided between East and West.

Nickname of the scarlet tanager is "robin with a sore throat" because of its hoarse caroling.

Senate Group OKs Nomination Of Fred Seaton

WASHINGTON (U)—The Senate Interior Committee today unanimously approved the nomination of Fred A. Seaton to be secretary of interior.

Seaton, former Nebraska senator and recently a White House aide, was named by President Eisenhower last week to succeed Douglas McKay, who resigned to run for the Senate.

Committee approval was by voice vote after its members questioned Seaton for an hour and a half on federal power policies and other matters within the department's jurisdiction.

The action sends the nomination to the Senate floor for final action. Democratic committee members had promised in advance to question Seaton about the administration's controversial "partnership" policy for developing water power sites, as well as other phases of natural resources development.

As to how the nation's water power sites should be developed, Seaton said he regards the administration's "partnership" policy as "the truest kind of Americanism." He stressed that it retains the control of power production and distribution in the hands of local interests.

But Seaton testified that he favors public power development where people in a given area "exercise their own right of free choice" and desire it. He commented that he is from Nebraska, a public power state.

He also expressed himself as "personally" in favor of statehood for Alaska as soon as Congress can arrange for withdrawals of parcels of land required for defense purposes. He said he will try to bring Mr. Eisenhower to that view. He said he does not think it will be "much of a job."

Safety Chief Says Guard Will Not Be Used for Patrol

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (U)—State Traffic Safety Chief Robert A. Campbell said today Gov. William G. Stratton will not call out the National Guard to patrol highways on the Fourth of July.

Campbell said the decision was reached after Stratton studied records of traffic accidents on Memorial Day when Illinois led the nation with 16 highway deaths.

He said the governor decided to depend on "the full use of all state police working around the clock on July Fourth" and help from auxiliary state police.

Campbell said Stratton took into account the fact that Memorial Day fatalities included 4 pedestrians and that 75 per cent of the collision accidents were due to speeding.

Campbell told United Press last week he would recommend use of the National Guard to Stratton. The governor told a news conference Monday he was considering whether to use the Guardsmen.

Campbell spoke at a meeting of the Illinois Association of Licensed Beverage Dealers.

Ex-Girl Friend of Man with Slain Woman Faces Test

NILES, Mich. (U)—An ex-girl friend of a man who was in the company of Mrs. Marion Davenjay the night she was killed has agreed to take a lie test, police said today.

Police Chief Arthur Pears said Rita McGraw, attractive 23-year-old Greensburg, Pa., magazine saleswoman, will take the test Wednesday.

But Pears said a .22 caliber pistol owned by Mrs. Davenjay's escort of the night she was killed was not the death weapon as once suspected.

Pears said Miss McGraw admitted "keeping company" with Gene McClane, 40, who was with Mrs. Davenjay early Sunday when she was slain.

Pears said Miss McGraw denied any part of the mystery slaying but agreed to come here for the lie test. She worked under McClane, who was the boss of the traveling magazine sales crew.

Mrs. Davenjay, 27, was shot to death early Sunday as she stood outside the Club 66, a night spot here. She was a secretary at the Canadian consulate in Chicago.

Northwestern University Dean Resigns

EVANSTON, Ill. (U)—Harold C. Havighurst will resign Sept. 1 as dean of the Northwestern University Law School. Havighurst, 58, has held the post since 1948. He said he wanted to devote more time to teaching, research and writing.

Mount Etna, Sicily's 10,633-foot volcano, has had more than 50 major eruptions in recorded history, the last being in 1950.

More birds, such as sparrows, are being raised in cages than in the wild.

John Singleton Receives New Music Post in Florida

John Singleton, former Harrisburg Township high school band director who has been band director at Franklin Junior high school at Tampa, Fla., the past four years, is stepping into a new position with the county school system there next year.

Mr. Singleton will work with music teachers in all secondary schools as an over-all co-ordinator. His job will involve working with teachers in 24 junior high schools and 12 senior high schools in Hillsborough county.

Mr. Singleton, whose wife is the former Joyce Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hill of this city, was given a surprise gift at an annual band picnic held recently. It was a nice wrist watch and was a present from his 250 band pupils.

The Tampa Tribune carried a photograph of Mr. Singleton receiving the watch as pupils looked on.

Mollet, Adenauer Agree to Restore Saar to Germany

LUXEMBOURG (U)—French Premier Guy Mollet and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today hammered out final agreement on a plan to restore the Saar to Germany by Jan. 1, ending decades of bickering over the coal-and-steel rich territory.

A joint communique, delayed by an 11th-hour wrangle over technical details, announced complete agreement by both sides on all major issues involved in the dispute over the Saar Basin. The last-minute hitch on details held up the communique till 3 a. m.—a delay of five hours.

In an historic nine-hour meeting in the "neutral" city of Luxembourg, Mollet and Adenauer agreed to:

1. Return the Saar politically to Germany by Jan. 1, 1957.
2. Merge the territory's economy with that of Germany after a three-year interim period. The Saar now is tied economically with France.

Compromises settled French and German differences over the building of the Moselle River canal and the Rhine lateral canal. Germany withdrew its objections to the Moselle River canal and pledged to provide $71.6 million for its construction. France agreed to end work on the Rhine lateral canal which Germans complained has lowered the water level in the upper Rhine.

President Praises Red Cross; Rename Harriman Chairman

ST. LOUIS (U)—President Eisenhower's message to the 31st national convention of the American Red Cross said 1955 was a "difficult but magnificent year" for the organization.

The message was read to the 4,500 delegates at the opening of the session here Monday.

"As you gather and plan together to meet the tasks which are ahead," Mr. Eisenhower wrote National Chairman E. Roland Harriman, "I join with other Americans in saluting the past of the American Red Cross and in expressing faith in its future."

The White House announced in Washington that Harriman had been reappointed by the President to a new three-year term as national Red Cross chairman. Harriman became voluntary head of the organization in 1950 and was reappointed by Mr. Eisenhower in 1953.

Harriman said Red Cross reserves now are at the lowest point in years, due mainly to expenditures of 32 million dollars for disaster work in the present fiscal year.

Congressmen Feel Britain Blundered In Trade Move

WASHINGTON (U)—Some congressmen said that Britain blundered in announcing a new move to increase trade with Red China just as Congress is about to take up the foreign aid bill.

The British announced Monday that they are relaxing a number of restrictions which limit the trade their colonies can carry on with Red China.

The move came as a drive already had started in the House to deny U. S. aid to any nation trading in strategic goods with Iron Curtain countries. An effort will be made to write such a provision into President Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid bill when it comes up for House debate Wednesday.

Rep. John M. Vorys (Ohio), key Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said the British action certainly would make the cut-off "very popular" among House members. Vorys, who does not support such a blanket proposal, declined to forecast whether it would be approved or rejected.

Bus Segregation In Alabama Ruled Illegal

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (U)—A three-judge federal tribunal ruled today that segregation of city buses in Montgomery is unconstitutional. The bus line has been boycotted for six months by Negroes demanding an end to segregated seating.

The Tallahassee, Fla., bus line also is being boycotted by Negroes who are asking similar removal of race barriers and full first come, first served seating privileges.

The Montgomery judges set the effective date of their order two weeks hence to give all parties time to submit suggestions for a formal judgment and to give the state and city time to appeal, if they desire.

Final settlement of the case apparently will be up to the U. S. Supreme Court to which most such cases generally are appealed.

The ruling said "we hold that the statutes and ordinances requiring segregation of the white and colored races on the motor buses of a common carrier of passengers in the city of Montgomery and its police jurisdiction violate the due process and equal protection of the law clauses of the 14th Amendment of the Constitution of the U. S."

Syria Reports Discovery of Buried Seaport

DAMASCUS, Syria (U)—Syrian archaeologists using clay tablets from Egypt as their guide have discovered a buried Mediterranean seaport at least 3,000 years old, it was announced today.

Salim Abdul Hak, director of the government archaeological department, said it is the ancient port of Semira which lies just south of the north Syrian coastal city of Tartus.

First reports from the excavation

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.

Who is to blame for crime, for sin and for other things? Someone else always makes the mistake. You and I are never at fault. After a quick glance we place the major part of the responsibility on some other person or group of persons.

At least we readily clear ourselves of the basic blame. We sit back smugly and criticize other people for their share in crimes against society. We seem to enjoy finding fault as if it were a recreational pastime.

Unwittingly we set ourselves up as judges of people in areas where we have no business to judge. Many of the errors we see in other people are the same errors which we ourselves commit. The most obvious area of self-revelation is that of gossip.

We gossip subtly by passing judgment on someone else whom we call a gossip. In proving our point that "Mrs. So and So" is a malingerer we spread all kinds of gossip ourselves. It is easy to see

Researchers from many nations have spent years seeking Semira since its existence was first disclosed in pottery tablets unearthed in Egyptian excavations.

Abdul Hak told a news conference Syrian excavators succeeded where American and other expeditions failed because the Syrians looked inland instead of on the seacoast itself.

The Canaanite Phoenicians built their harbors inland for protection from marauding pirates. Abdul Hak said Semira was found about three miles in from the sea, conforming to this custom.

our own weakness in other people. We know what to look for.

Many centuries ago a crowd of smug self-appointed judges came to Jesus with a sinner. They were violent in their criticism and wanted to put the sinner to death. Jesus listened to their story and observed that none of them were free from sin.

He passed no judgment. He found no fault in them. He merely suggested that anyone who was free from sin should inflict the penalty on the sinner.

New One

THE STORY: Frank Ude decides there is something strange about Emmett Cash, leader of a horse outfit. When a string of horses was taken by force from Cash, he showed no disposition to try to get them back. Cash, Ude decides, is a horse thief.

III
Frank Ude veered from the high rock escarpments and quartered across a cactus scarred desert where neither sign of road nor track nor of man marked the trail. He crossed at length into more fertile country, picking up the winding channel of the Skull, and so came to the cross-roads of Cashtown. The place was a collection of frame and adobe shacks standing beneath the ledge of a pine-covered mountain. Constant dust devils raced back and forth as vagrant winds stirred the road's surface.

The place offered all the flavor of a cowtown with its two-story hotel on one corner and a galloped saloon opposite. Across the main street stood a row of wooden stores, a bank, an eating house, a store displaying second-hand furniture and an odd collection of musical instruments. A slim dark-haired man with somewhat classical features stood before the store front facing the hotel. He was dressed in black trousers and a dark shirt with a flowered necktie and Frank noted none of the marks of a cowman about him.

Frank's gelding had loosened a shoe on its forefoot on the trek up the Skull so that the first thing he did was hunt up a smithy. He found the shop on a side street, a weathered and warped building with a sign: Swenson's Blacksmith.

A pair of rusty cannon balls had been set into a narrow concrete slab beside the stable doors. Frank drew his gaze to the lumbering Swede wiping his forge-blackened arms on his apron.

"Gettysburg," the blacksmith imparted sparingly. "So?" and now Frank's gaze returned to the cannon balls. "Is that where you got your limp?"

The Swede nodded. "Day after Lee's army retreated I walked over their artillery positions. That's all I found of Tom Carter's field pieces. When I stooped after the iron balls a sniper busted a hole in my britches."

Swenson imparted this information without a break in his leathery face. Down the street of life man has his high points that remain aglow until the end, and Frank knew the episode of Colonel Carter's cannon balls was the apex of Swenson's life. The Swede's thoughtful glance swept over the gelding. He found the small Anchor brand on the neck but this meant nothing in Cashtown. Anchor was beyond the high plateau country, almost at the border. The unveiled suspicion behind the Swede's eyes told plainly something was wrong in Cashtown, some factor that kept unrest alive.

The smith's hand crept over the horse, testing its muscles. He asked, "Ride far?"

Frank smiled over the man's attempted subtlety. "The name's Frank Ude. No one's following my backtrail. At least none close enough to catch up."

It was on his mind to ask if the Swede knew Emmett, if he knew anything about the raid on the Cash horses, or that Ed Rambaut was dead. Then looking at the Swede's face a warning quickly stopped his questions. There ought to be law in this town, but it didn't seem in evidence. Or maybe the law was all one-sided. He asked presently, "Can a good hand find a job on this range?"

Swenson kept on studying Frank. What he found graded up rather high in his estimation. A tall, rangy man with lean hips and flat, straight shoulders. A trail-dusted drifter with a tight jaw and clear eyes, perhaps a little harder than an honest man possessed, but this firmness of character was what Cashtown needed. If the stranger's gun-hand was as swift as he suspected Swenson was ready to recommend a job.

"It just could be you'd fit," he decided. "Ever work for a woman?"

He saw the frail smile vanish from Frank's face. Swenson read behind this man's carefully worn mask. At some time a woman had got beneath his outer callousness and left her claws in tender flesh. Swede thought: "She's maybe busted you up too much for salvaging. Or maybe you weren't no good in the first place."

A faint unbending of Frank's mouth wiped away his first displeasure. "I won't work for an outfit where there's a woman. The gelding don't take to them, either. Don't cotton to women bossing him."

The Swede shook the oily sweat off his forehead and grinned loosely.

"Women're getting pesky on this range, same as on any other. Let me think about it, stranger."

Frank watched him lift the gelding's right forefoot, sensing the admiration this man felt for his horse. Satisfied the Swede was a master of his profession he swung away.

The smell of deep-fries drifting between buildings reminded him he was hungry. He found the restaurant a few doors down the false-fronted block: Cashtown Restaurant. He leaned his shoulder point against the slabboard wall while he built himself a smoke, considering the town.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS

of the

Methodist Southern Illinois Annual Conference

The Southern Illinois Conference of the Methodist Church, meeting in its One Hundred and Fifth Session, held in the First Methodist Church of Harrisburg, Illinois, wishes to express through its Committee on Resolutions its deep gratitude and sincere appreciation to the people of the First Methodist Church, their pastor, Rev. W. L. Cummins, and to the Official Board, for the use of their lovely new church and for the entertainment provided for delegates in the homes of the church people. We are thankful to all of those who have extended the many kindnesses and courtesies shown us and who have proved so helpful in making our Conference both enjoyable and successful. To the untiring work of the ushers and hostesses in providing comfort and conveniences for us; to the church secretaries whose constant helpfulness has made us feel at home in the midst of a multitude of important calls and connections; to the organist, Mrs. Robert Norman, whose constant presence at the console has provided us with excellent music at all sessions, — and — to the members of the First Methodist Church choir, and their leader, Mr. John Schork, we express our deepest gratitude. Last, but certainly not least in the matters of local church recognitions, we should like to say a word in commendation of the splendid work of the church custodian, Rodney Mattingly.

We are also grateful to those of the City of Harrisburg who provided for adequate parking facilities for the Conference, — to the Junior High School for the use of its auditorium and facilities, and certainly to the Harrisburg Daily Register, for what we feel has been an exceptionally efficient job on publicity and coverage of our Annual Conference.

We cannot say enough in the way of appreciation to the good people of the Presbyterian Church of Harrisburg for their splendid work in the accommodation of the meals, banquets, and the Youth Rally, and to the First Baptist Church for the use of their church and educational building for conference meetings, also to the First Christian Church for the use of their building and equipment.

We feel that this report would certainly be incomplete without due recognition and appreciation of the leadership of our conference. The presence of our own Bishop Charles Wesley Brashares, whose thought-provoking devotionals and messages have always inspired us, and whose brilliant humor has expedited many a session of conference, has added immeasurably to the feeling of fellowship and brotherliness among us all. An added blessing, indeed, is always the presence of Mrs. Brashares who has become endeared to us all.

None of us need to be reminded that underlying much of the "behind-the-scenes" preparation of the conference, is the most efficient work of the Bishop's secretary, Miss Naomi Wurgler, of whom we are most appreciative.

We would indeed be ungrateful if we failed to express our thanks to the following speakers whose information and inspiration added greatly to the spiritual and intellectual uplift of the conference: Dr. R. B. Pierce, Dr. Blair, Mrs. J. W. Wood, Dr. Thomas Carruth, Dr. William R. Cannon, Dr. H. D. Bollinger, Dr. Delyte W. Morris, and Rev. Mike Katayama. We feel that we have been helped and enlightened by the efforts of these good people.

Our whole-hearted appreciation is extended to the Choir of Aldersgate Methodist Church of Marion, Illinois, for their musical presentation, to McKendree College, to the Wesley Foundation at Carbondale, and to Bill Williams of Harrisburg for the splendid services of Christian witness in word and song. We feel that the presentations of all of these were outstanding.

We appreciate the invitation of the Rev. H. G. Hurley and of the Official Board of the First Methodist Church of Carbondale, Illinois, to entertain the 106th Session of the Southern Illinois Conference of the Methodist Church in 1957. May God be with us as we, with joy, look forward to even greater accomplishments in the work of His Kingdom in the future.

Finally, we could not close this statement of appreciation without a request for the future. We unanimously request that Bishop Charles Wesley Brashares be returned to our Area as resident Bishop for another quadrennium.

Respectfully Submitted,
COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS

Caroline Signs Pro Contract With Chicago Bears

CHICAGO (AP) — J. C. Caroline, former University of Illinois star half-back, has signed a contract with the Chicago Bears of the National Football League. Caroline played with the Montreal Alouettes of Canada's Big Four Union last season after being declared ineligible at Illinois.

Caroline, now 22 years old, starred for Illinois in 1953 and 1954. He was elected captain of the 1955 team, but was declared ineligible for scholastic reasons in 1955.

Caroline broke a record set by Red Grange as a sophomore when he rushed for 1,670 yards in nine 1953 games. He was hampered by injuries the next year.

Halas said he received permission from Montreal officials before signing Caroline. The Bears had drafted him last January.

DOWNSTATE FISHERMAN'S GUIDE: Few Catches of Bass Reported; New Hatchery Will Aid Area

By PETE BROWN
(From reports by the Southern Illinois University Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Conservation Department)

Still stalled by weather fluctuations and prolonged spawning activity, bigmouth bass have given southern Illinois fishermen another week of non-productive shoulder and thumb exercise. Dock operators at Crab Orchard and Little Grassy lakes reported virtually no bass on the stringers brought ashore.

The area's best catch of the week was notched — once again — by the indomitable Albert Peithman of Carbondale. Fishing with an L and M off some of his favorite stumps he lured five of them. The catch weighed a so-so 15 pounds, and every one of the fish was a male. A 28 and a 12 inch bass were checked at Playport in one 12-hour watch.

Crappie — most of them one-pounders — were running fair at Grassy, Crab Orchard and Horse-shoe for minnow fishermen. Two strings of 20 apiece were the best at Crab Orchard. The Crab Orchard bluegill are still coming in on the smallish side.

Worm-danglers at Lake Murphysboro were doing good to fine with bluegill the size averaging little more than six inches.

"Bluegrass" Roy Freeman of Carbondale was one of several anglers reporting good results in the nine ponds of the Cambria area. Freeman landed a nice four and one-half pound bass and some smaller ones. Crappie from these ponds are pretty hefty, according to reports, and the bluegill are nice and solid through the shoulders.

The recent $155,000 appropriation to the State Conservation Department for construction of a fish hatchery near the Little Grassy dam may be the first step towards a much-needed rehabilitation of the state's fish rearing and stocking units.

The Department is still wading through the legalities involved in securing the 112 acres on which they have options, but hopes are high that construction of the initial 10-pond phase can begin this summer. The ultimate plan includes a total of 20 ponds at the Little Grassy site.

Adjacent to federal property about one quarter mile below and east of the dam, the location is ideal for its purpose. It was the only spot throughout the southern Illinois area combed by state conservation men which is adaptable to gravity flow of water, both in and out of the fish ponds.

Glen D. Palmer, director of conservation for Illinois, says the site is ideal, geographically, and will remove most of the burden and hazard of stocking southern Illinois ponds and lakes under the present system. Right now, as estimated 75 per cent of all fish use for approved lakes and ponds in the downstate area comes from the Peatontia Hatchery near Rockford, and transporting bass and bluegill that distance involves a rather heavy risk of loss—due to equipment failure, heat, etc. The loss of fish is irreplaceable, since reproduction rate is constant.

Is the past, the Carlyle rearing units have trimmed some of the risk from the job, since the ponds there could be used as a transfer point. But the obvious answer to the whole problem was, of course, the building of a big, modern unit where it is most needed.

Nothing definite has been decided about the future of the Carlyle hatchery. Conservation officials point out that it has been non-productive for some time, is outmoded, costly to operate (the water is pumped in from the Kaskaskia) and is in danger of flooding from the source of its supply. There are now only two usable ponds in Carlyle.

The Carlyle hatchery is attractive as a park and has long been a popular spot in the community.

The state's other hatcheries are located at Geneseo, Mattoon and Springfield. Only the Springfield Grove unit, which is well-equipped and spring-fed, can be considered adequately modern.

Since the drought of recent years, there has been a tremendous increase in farm pond construction and a subsequent impounding of requests for fish stock. Last year the Department fulfilled 1,092 requests, 80 per cent of them south of Springfield. This year agents are trying to keep up with an even bigger demand. A pond must cover at least one half acre to be considered.

Eldorado Merchants Win 5-4 Tilt From McLeansboro

The Eldorado Merchants played host to the McLeansboro Pirates Sunday in a baseball game and defeated them by the score of 5 to 4 in a well played contest.

McLeansboro scored a run in the second and that was all the scoring done until the seventh. The Merchants came up with three runs in the seventh when K. Eubanks doubled with the bases loaded and scored all three men. McLeansboro came back in the eighth and scored three runs on four hits to take a one run lead. The Merchants won the game in the last of the ninth on a double by Cooley, a single by Pulliam, Dorris was hit by a pitched ball, Eubanks walked to force in Cooley and then the pitcher hit Joe Irvin with a pitched ball to force in the winning run.

Eldorado scored five runs on nine hits and McLeansboro scored four runs on eight hits. Jim Deen, a hard throwing right hander, pitched for McLeansboro and Joe Irvin was on the hill for Eldorado. Pulliam, K. Eubanks and Irvin each had two hits for the Merchants and Cooley, Grubbs and D. Eubanks each had one hit to round out the nine hit attack for Eldorado.

Next Sunday the Merchants will travel to Henderson, Ky., for a game. There will be a practice session Thursday night of this week and players are requested to be present at 5:30.

Cardinals Sell Surkont, Sign Jim Konstanty

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Max Surkont was sold Monday to San Francisco and the St. Louis Cardinals filled the vacancy on their pitching staff by signing reliever Jim Konstanty, the Cardinals announced today.

Surkont was obtained a month ago from Pittsburgh in a trade that sent Luis Arroyo and an undetermined amount of cash to the Pirates.

For the Cards, Surkont pitched 6 1/3 innings and had a season's earned run average of 8.22. Konstanty, who was given his unconditional release recently by the New York Yankees, had been working out for the past week with the Redbirds. He formerly was the ace relief hurler of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

Mantle Could Outdo Babe Ruth; Sound, He'd Be Ty Cobb, Too

NEW YORK (NEA) — Maintaining his early cyclonic pace, Mickey Mantle will have hit 75 home runs by the time the sun sets on Yankee Stadium and the American League season on Sept. 30.

As much as they dislike to see it rubbed out, for sentimental reasons, oldtimers well qualified to judge such things are beginning to suspect that Babe Ruth's seasonal record of 60 will be broken after 29 years.

Such seasoned authorities on the subject as John Franklin Baker and Paul Krichell, chief of Yankee scouts, predict that all Mantle has to do is stay in one piece. Baker earned the appellation, Home Run, by leading the league with from eight to 12 of them for four consecutive years — 1911-14. That gives you the best slant on to just what degree the ball was hopped up when along came Ruth.

When Mantle first came around as a 19-year-old, Branch Rickey remarked that here was a lad with a fine chance of making graybeards forget every ballplayer they ever saw.

Well, nobody ever hit a ball any farther or was faster in a baseball uniform. And at 24, Mantle is just getting a running start.

Indeed, were the Oklahoma Kid perfectly sound, he might not only outstrip the immortal Ruth, but would also show the folks that there is considerable Ty Cobb in him.

While it may not appear that way at all times from the stands, Mantle has all the ability and burning desire to excel that made Cobb the greatest ballplayers who ever lived.

No one ever went from first to third base, from second to the plate or scored from a short hit to the outfield. The Oklahoma Kid bunts and drags well, rarely can be shot out with a gun when doing so while batting left-handed. But a ballplayer doesn't bunt

Maglie Blanks Braves, 3-0, Idle Pirates Take First; Cards Defeat Giants, 11-5

Anything can happen in baseball and there was proof of that today in the fact that Sal Maglie, an old-time Giant, pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates into first place while wearing a once-hated Brooklyn uniform.

How's that again? Well, here's how it all happened. Maglie, making his second start for the Dodgers Monday night, knocked the Braves out of the National League lead by beating them, 3-0, on a three-hitter.

As soon as Maglie retired Hank Aaron for the final out, the idle Pirates, some of whom had their ears cocked to radios in Chicago, automatically went into first place by a full game.

Regain Top Spot

The Pirates first took over first place by percentage points when they beat Milwaukee in the first game of a doubleheader last Sunday but quickly dropped back to second place when they lost the nightcap. Now with a full game lead, there's a little more authenticity to their front porch perch.

The 39-year old Maglie, an arch enemy of the Dodgers during the many years he was with the Giants, never was better than he was Monday night. He struck out five batters, walked only one and allowed only one Milwaukee runner to advance as far as second base.

Ransom Jackson singled home Brooklyn's first run in the opening frame off Lew Burdette and PeeWee Reese and Gil Hodges tagged him for homers in the eighth.

Redlegs Trip Phillies

Cincinnati, remaining a game out of first place, defeated Philadelphia, 8-2, as Art Fowler pitched five-hit ball for his fourth triumph. Fowler had a shut out until the ninth when the Phils pushed across a pair of unearned runs.

The Cardinals, also only a game from the top, defeated the Giants, 11-5, with Vinegar Bend Mizell turning in his sixth victory. St. Louis hopped on starter Don Liddle for five runs in the first three innings and led the rest of the way although Foster Castleman hit a three-run homer in the fourth inning and Bill White hit a two-run homer in the fifth. Ken Boyer paced the Cards' 15-hit offensive with his 13th homer, two doubles and a single.

Chisox Bury Birds

The Chicago White Sox shaved the idle Yankees' American league lead to four games by crushing the Baltimore Orioles, 13-4. Lefty Billy Pierce had a two-hit shutout until he tired in the eighth but he was credited with his seventh victory. Chicago collected 14 hits and scored 11 of its runs off starter Don Ferrarese. Nellie Fox had four hits for the White Sox and Minnie Minoso hit a two-run homer in the eighth.

Mike Garcia of the Indians turned in his best effort of the season as he struck out 12 batters and gave up only seven hits in defeating the Senators, 7-0. Pete Ramos started for Washington and was nicked for homers by Jim Busby and young Earl Averill.

The family "chauffeurs" are going for Ford in a big way for some mighty big reasons

That's why the lady loves a Ford

She loves the performance that makes Ford the world's largest-selling V-8! Who wouldn't thrill to the extra "GO" that Ford knows so well how to pack into a V-8? The lady is no exception. And while she may be a bit lazy about the 30 world performance records that Ford broke, she knows that the 225-h.p. Thunderbird Special V-8* in a Fordomatic Victoria is ready and able in an instant to whisk her away from traffic trouble.

She loves that look that says Thunderbird all over! Any one with a flair for style knows that the "long, low look" is in and that the Thunderbird-inspired Ford is the fashion leader. Inside, too, Ford boasts new beauty with the richer fabrics, lovelier colors of Luxury Lounge Interiors.

She loves the protection of Ford's exclusive Lifeguard Design. The lady heartily approves the sound, common sense of Ford Lifeguard Design and appreciates the new peace of mind it brings when the family's on the move. New deep-center steering wheel and Lifeguard double-grip door latches are standard equipment. Floor-anchored Ford seat belts and Lifeguard padding for sun visors and instrument panel are available at reasonable extra cost.

She loves the way Ford S-T-R-E-T-C-H-E-S budgets!

Built-in extra value makes Ford worth a good deal more than its modest price... helps it hold on to its value, too! For example, a hefty frame with 5 heavy cross-members and K-bar bracing is the most ruggedly designed and built in the low-price field.

Come in and meet the lady's beau at your Ford Dealer's. Chances are you'll agree, she knows how to pick 'em.

No Soil Bank Payments for Crop Reductions Through Accidents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials made clear today that any soil bank payments a farmer gets this year he will earn by his own efforts. There will be no government cash for crop reduction by drought, flood, insect damage or other natural phenomena.

"We don't pay for any accidental compliance with the soil bank," an Agriculture Department official said. "We don't spend any money unless we buy acreage reduction. We won't pay for any reduction that has been accompanied by accident — drought, flood or insects."

Another department official who has a voice in administering the soil bank said program details have not been worked out fully. He said basic instructions to state and county committees that will operate the soil bank on the individual farm level probably will be available about June 18—after the latest planting dates in most cases.

Asked who would comply with soil bank provisions after that date, the official said: "Nobody." However, he softened that to "those who hadn't planted crops or who had recently planted might comply."

Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-NC) of the House Agriculture Committee Monday accused the Eisenhower administration of "deliberately" delaying starting the soil bank "for political purposes." Benson told a news conference here last week that he was launching the soil bank immediately and that farmers who plowed under immature crops would receive generous benefits.

Boost Postal Deposits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Monday voted to boost the minimum postal savings deposit from $1 to $5. The measure now goes to the House.

LYLE LEE CONDUCTS 'SKI-COLLEGE' to take care of skiing for resorts on the Lake of the Ozarks. He is shown above with several members of his class. As a new type of teaching the ski system Lee has rigged aluminum poles that run out beside the boat. The beginner starts by holding onto the pole and after they begin to get their balance he switches them back to the standard 75 feet behind the boat. Lee will attempt a 500 mile non-stop "jaunt" on skis some time late in July or early August, and has started training for the attempt. His record of 400 miles still stands. Lee also is working with the Ozark Water Ski Pageant of two shows daily with a skier direct from Cypress Gardens.

Three States Win Temporary Flood Victories

Residents of three western states won temporary victories over flood waters and melting mountain snows today.

The little mountain spring of Cedar Creek fell back into its banks after menacing Denver suburbs and causing several hours of near panic.

The bloated Columbia river crested, at least for the time being, in the Pacific Northwest. Protecting dikes were dangerously soft in Oregon and Washington and officials warned that more rains or warm weather could start the Columbia pounding at the levees again.

Cedar Creek broke through a concrete and earthen dam at Idaho Springs, Colo., Monday and came raging down its canyon with more than a billion gallons of water.

It swept away nine bridges in a 14-mile stretch and rolled over two trans-continental highways, U. S. 6 and 40. The Denver suburbs of Golden and Arvada were threatened. Near panic broke out in the towns.

State, county and federal authorities acted quickly, however, and their early warnings were credited with averting any loss of life. A truck driver was hurt when his vehicle careened into the water, but he was the only casualty.

On the dark side, officials estimated that damage to bridges, highways and private business in the area would come close to $500,000.

In the northwest, spongy dikes were holding despite their grueling battle with the Columbia. The flood fighters' big problem was the kind of seepage which put several city blocks and a ball park under water at Umatilla, Ore.

Violent weather cracked in other parts of the nation. The Oklahoma Highway Patrol received a report that a tornado was on the ground and driving northeastward near Faxon. A severe electrical storm hit Clinton, Okla., and the Weather Bureau predicted the storms would move into Kansas.

West Point Grads Told They Face Exacting Task

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP) — Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker told West Point graduates today that the "grim threat of armed aggression" will require the United States to maintain a "tough military shield" for years to come.

Atomic weapons, guided missiles and aviation have revolutionized war concepts and multiplied the problems of military commanders, he told the 480-man graduating class at the annual U. S. Military Academy commencement exercises.

Brucker said modern technology will make the graduating cadets' task "more exacting" every day as they take their places in the "fastest moving, hardest hitting army in history."

He said that the idea that soldiers step in only after statesmanship fails and war starts has become completely outmoded. He said that the military profession has "leadership for peace" as a major concern.

Academy officials said 47 new second lieutenants planned to be married in the academy chapels following the exercises.

Of the graduates, about 119 were commissioned in the Air Force, 46 in the Corps of Engineers, 92 in artillery, 38 in armor, 25 in the Signal Corps, and 157 in infantry.

Reserve Board to Reverse Money Policy, Bankers Promised

CHICAGO (AP) — Illinois bankers were promised Monday that the Federal Reserve Board will reverse its money policy "promptly" if necessary to help the economy grow.

M. S. Szymczak, a member of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System, told the Illinois Bankers Assn. the system tightened bank credit and boosted interest rates to meet "tendencies toward inflationary price developments."

He promised the board is ready to change this policy if advisable to "facilitate continued and sustainable growth in the economy."
